QUEST 11: Build the TV station

Mary and Thomas are near the TV station.

Mary: “The TV station is complete! Are you excited for the grand opening, Thomas?”

Thomas: “Eh, I guess? I don’t know, I thought I’d be happier when the station was finished. But something feels missing...”

Mary: “Oh... sorry, Thomas. Maybe you’ll feel more excited when we actually start broadcasting?”

Thomas: “Maybe... let’s talk about it later. Right now we need to finish the road to the station, otherwise no one’s broadcasting anything!”

QUEST 12: Build the road to the TV station

Mary and Thomas are near the road.

Mary: “Now that the road is finished, the TV crew should be here soon. Feeling any better, Thomas?”

Thomas: “Not really. Sorry, Mary. Between the architecture and all the film stuff, I really thought something would spark my interest today.”

Thomas: “But so far, it’s all been a bust.”

Mary: “That’s all right, Thomas. I’m sure you’ll find your calling eventually. Sometimes it just takes a little while.”

Thomas: “Well, I know that your dad certainly figured out his, and I want this premiere to be memorable for him.”

Mary: “Aw, that’s sweet of you, Thomas. We’re actually almost ready. We just need to check that the projector and the broadcast both work.”

QUEST 13: Check the projector and the broadcast

NPC Operator and Reporter are near the place for the projector. Mary and Thomas approach them.

Mary: “The projector works! Now we just need to confirm that the broadcast signal is getting picked up.”

Thomas: “Got it. I’ll check in with the station to make sure everything is going smoothly.”

Thomas receives a call.

Thomas: “Hello? This is Thomas. How’s the broadcast signal?”

Thomas: “What? What do you mean you’re not receiving anything? Have you tried restarting the equipment?”

Thomas: “... Well, try again! This is a once in a lifetime premiere. We have to get this broadcast working!”

Thomas hangs up.

Mary: “That... didn’t sound like good news.”

Thomas: “It wasn’t. The TV station isn’t receiving the signal for the movie.”

Thomas: “We need to figure this out, and soon. The premiere is about to start!”

QUEST 14: Figure out why there is no signal

Mary and Thomas are near the projector. If possible, Thomas checks his phone.

Thomas: “I’ve reviewed the station’s broadcast setup twice now. It should be working! I don’t know what’s going wrong...”

Mary: “Don’t worry, Thomas. I’m sure there has to be a solution somewhere!”

Thomas: “If there is, I’m not seeing it. Ugh, I really wanted to get this right! I know how important this premiere is to everyone...”

Alistair approaches.

Alistair: “Thomas, Mary, is everything on schedule for the premiere?”

Mary: “Actually, we’ve hit a bit of a snag. The projector works, but the new TV station isn’t picking up the broadcast signal.”

Alistair: “I see. Why don’t you let me take a look at your calculations...”

Alistair: “Ah, here we are. You’ve got a miscalculation in the signal strength. If we build a TV tower, it will correct the error.”

If possible, Thomas stops checking his phone.

Mary: “Thank goodness! Thanks for catching that, Alistair. Come on, Thomas, we’ve got a TV tower to build!”

QUEST 15: Build the TV tower

Mary and Thomas are near the TV station.

Mary: “With this TV tower, the station should be able to pick up the broadcast. It looks like we did it, Thomas!”

Thomas: “You and Alistair did it, Mary. I got my math wrong and almost ruined the whole thing for everyone.”

Mary: “Thomas... everybody makes mistakes sometimes, even me and Alistair.”

Thomas: “I appreciate you saying that, but let’s be honest here. We succeeded today despite my help, not because of it.”

Thomas: “I’m not talented or smart like you and your dad, Mary. I should just accept that. Let’s just finish our work and call it a night.”
